Alum of the Year Award

This award recognizes an Alum of Emory University who has demonstrated a strong commitment and dedication to issues that affect women in the Emory community and beyond. The award honors an alumnus who has made meaningful contributions by:

- Organizing, promoting, and/or participating in social, educational, professional or networking events for women at Emory, locally, regionally and/or nationally.
- Advocating or providing leadership for women’s issues or concerns of gender equality at the university, local, regional, or national levels.
- Volunteering time, effort, and resources to promote and maintain an active community for women alumnae.
- Organizing and/or participating in fundraising efforts that support the scholarship, leadership and/or community-building efforts of women at Emory.
- Organizing and/or participating in fundraising efforts that serve the needs of women at Emory, locally, regionally, and/or nationally.

The nomination materials should include a description of specific demonstrable examples of how the nominee has contributed to one or more of the core activities listed above.