Program of the Year

This award recognizes an individual or group who have developed a campus program or event to address the needs of women and/or improve gender equality on campus or in the greater Emory community. The winner(s) will have designed and created a novel program or led and improved upon an existing program that addressed the needs of women and/or feminist issues. The program may be a series or a one-time event and must include the participation of students, staff, faculty, or other community members. The award honors an individual or group whose program had made strides in one or more areas of:

- Creating a more equitable and inclusive campus environment for women and others.
- Fostering public dialogue on women’s issues in the Emory community and beyond.
- Providing education on women’s issues or issues of gender equity.

The nomination materials should include a description of the program and specific demonstrable examples of how the nominee has contributed to one or more of the core activities listed above.
