Center for Women at Emory

We Are Looking for Outstanding Women!

Do you know a "Woman of Note"? Someone who excels in her field, is involved in the arts, has an interesting hobby or avocation, or volunteers for a worthy endeavor? If you know a woman who has not been widely recognized for her achievements or whose contributions are unknown outside her area of expertise, she might be a Woman of Note, and could be featured on the Center for Women at Emory website. Students, retired and active staff and faculty, and alumnae are all eligible. To nominate your own Women of Note, please fill out the information below:

Name of Nominee _____ Class Year (if student or alumna) _____

School/Department/Major _____

Phone number _____ Email address _____

Nominator's name _____

Phone number _____ Email address _____

Brief, one-paragraph description of what makes this woman noteworthy:

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

Send submissions to Sasha Smith at nasmit2@emory.edu or fax to 404.727.2002

For more information, please email nasmit2@emory.edu or call 404.727.2001